AuTBBented reality overlays visual elements, sound, and other sensory input onto real-world settings to enhance the user experience. Inital Dex offering(IDO)

The initial DEX offering, similar to the initial coin offering in both name and function, has been the source of incredible gains for many speculators and long-term blockchain investors alike. IDOs differ from traditional ICOs in several respects, however, and it's important to understand exactly what you're getting into before you devote a substantial portion of your portfolio to IDOs.

Inital Coin offering(ICO)

ICO stands for "initial coin offering," and refers to a formerly popular method of fundraising capital for early-stage cryptocurrency projects. In an ICO, a blockchain-based startup mints a certain quantity of its own native digital token and offers them to early investors, normally in exchange for other cryptocurrencies such as bitcoin or ether. As a type of digital crowdfunding, ICOs enable startups not only to raise funds without giving up equity but also to establish a community of incentivized users who want the project to succeed so their presale tokens rise in value.

NFT Marketplace

TONBigBull

NFT stands for Non-Fungible Token. Cryptocurrencies, which use a digital public record of transactions called a blockchain, are fungible. NFTs are digital items that can be bought and sold using this blockchain technology. But they are not fungible, making them a different type of asset.

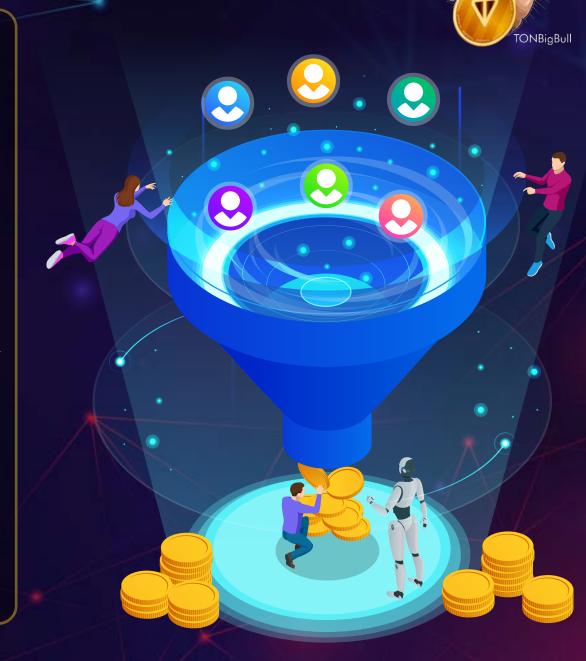

Non-fungible tokens, commonly known as NFTs, are unique cryptographic tokens that exist on a blockchain and cannot be replicated—having a unique identification code and metadata.

Decentralized Exchange

A decentralized exchange is an exchange market that does not rely on a third party service to hold the customer's funds. Decentralized exchanges allow direct peer-to-peer trading of cryptocurrencies or other digital assets. These exchanges are usually powered by smart contracts. Decentralized exchanges have many benefits, including increased security, transparency, and immutability. However, they also have some disadvantages, such as lower liquidity and higher fees.

Launchpad

Crypto launchpads are essentially platforms that help launch crypto projects. They serve as incubators for crypto companies, providing a way for investors to gain an early foothold in projects before they issue tokens in a public ICO. Projects found on launchpads tend to attract funds by offering their coins at a discounted price in order to boost demand and attract more investment attention in the project before taking it public.

Gaming

The world has seen an increase of $22.3 billion in 2021 from $20.36 billion in 2020, in the Global Sports Market. It is growing with a CAGR of 9.5%. What we see here is the growing demand of our customers for a good 3D virtual gaming experience. That's why we are aiming to proffer our youth population with a remarkable 3D gaming experience with blockchain technology-based VR sports.

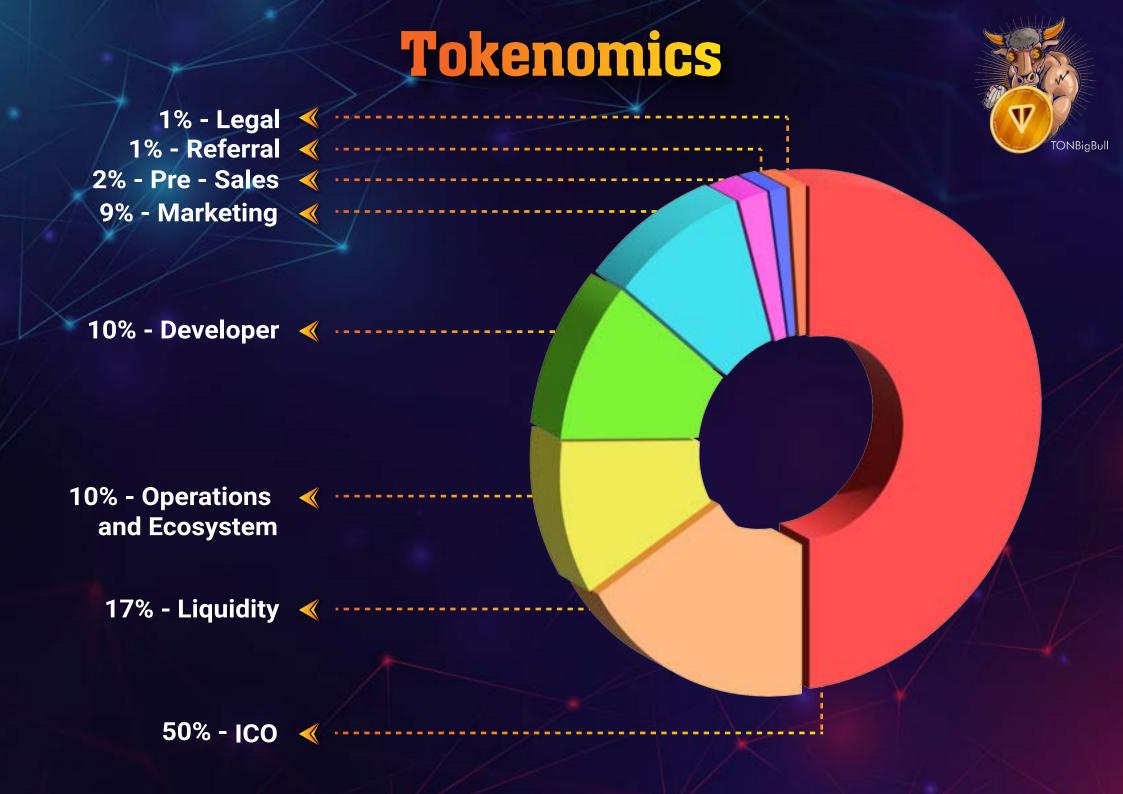

Staking and Farming

TONBigBull

Staking and farming are two of the most important ways that users can increase the quantity of their tokens. Staking is the process of locking up your tokens in order to participate in the governance of a blockchain. The more tokens you stake, the more influential your vote will be. Farming is the process of providing liquidity to a blockchain in order to earn rewards. The more liquidity you provide, the more rewards you will earn.
